

Guest Seminar

How Posthuman Have We Become:
A Conversation with John Krafft

April 26, 2013 (Friday) at 11 o'clock
room 313

Readings:

N. Katherine Hayles, How We Became Posthuman. Virtual Bodies in Cybernetics, Literature and Informatics, chapters one and eleven (1999):
<http://www9.georgetown.edu/faculty/irvinem/theory/Hayles-Posthuman-excerpts.pdf>

David Huntsperger, “Clickthrough Culture and Difficult Literature” (2012):
<http://www.raintaxi.com/online/2012fall/unreadable.php>

Thomas Pynchon, “Is It O.K. to be a Luddite?” (1984):
http://www.themodernword.com/pynchon/pynchon_essays_luddite.html

John M. Krafft is Associate Professor of English at Miami University and Fulbright Lecturer at the Catholic University of Lublin in the 2012-2013 academic year. He is the founding co-editor of Pynchon Notes and the author of numerous publications on Thomas Pynchon.

Please note:

For reasons of logistics, those interested in participating in the seminar are kindly asked to send an email to tbasiuk@uw.edu.pl to confirm their attendance.