“On American Buddhism”

Wednesday, 19 March, 12:30-2:00 pm

Al. Niepodległości 22, room 314

Agata Sobiecka wrote that: Our School's founding teacher Seung Sahn Sunim after receiving transmission and teaching authority in Korea came to America in 1972. This makes Korean Zen Buddhism in America as old as its Japanese version. We would be happy to introduce the students to the brief history and philosophy of Korean Buddhism the way it evolved in the West. And about Herself: I have spent several years in Korea doing monastic training, which I had to terminate due to medical reasons and return to Poland, which is my home country. I have also spent over a year in California living in a International Zen Center, therefore have some insight into the dialog between Eastern and Western buddhist cultures.
